

Team Canada & USA Rugby Players Volunteer

At the Youth Wheelchair Outreach Sports Camp in Santa Barbara, California, kids are offered the use of unique chairs, equipment, and assistance to play and be active with other kids in wheelchairs. The outreach camp promotes and supports wheelchair sports and activities. Youth are given an opportunity to experience sports and life in a new way. Kids at the camp were thrilled to see players from Rugby Team Canada and USA take time away from a busy tournament schedule at the Nations Cup to play a game of wheelchair rugby with them on Thursday, July 21, 2011 at the UCSB. The game consisted of players from both countries working and playing together against a very competitive outreach program team.

“When you see about a 100 kids with their parents and family members all gathered to cheer and celebrate their achievements, it makes all the hard work and training worthwhile. Thank you so much for letting me participate and play against these outstanding wheelchair athletes. It was so much fun with smiles all around for everyone involved. Being a volunteer at this camp is a definite highlight on the 2011 Nations’s Cup Tour.”
